Mental Health First Aid (MHFA) is more than just a training program – in addition to teaching First Aiders how to identify, understand and respond to signs and symptoms of a mental health challenge, it emphasizes the importance of self-care, provides facts about mental health, and encourages you to #BeTheDifference where and when you can. This may look like checking in with a coworker, reaching out to a family member or just supporting a friend who has been having a hard time. Winter classes will be held virtually on ZOOM, the rest will have a 2-hour virtual pre-course and a 6.5 hour in-person, instructor led portion on the dates below. All classes are free, but you must pre-register at least 7 days in advance and do pre-course before attending.
